New Pope Vows to GOP Senators Continue Council, Differ on Fate Of Tax Offer

Paul VI Promises to Work Toward Goals Outlined by Predecessor

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI, in his first message to the world, pledged today to continue the Vatican Ecumenical Council and strive for international peace.

The new Pope, clearly setting out on the path traced by Pope John XXIII, also promised to work for Christian unity and go ahead with the Canon Law revision that John started.

The Pope completed the outline of his program with the assurance he would support the policies of social justice outlined by his predecessors.

The prepared message in Latin, less than 24 hours after his election as 26th supreme pontiff of the world's half billion Roman Catholics, was in effect a keynote speech.

The pontiff spoke as jubilant Catholics made ready for his inauguration June 30 in Christendom's most brilliant ceremony.

Principal Work

The papal speech was broadcast from the Sistine Chapel where the Sacred College of Cardinals Friday elected Giovanni Battista Montini, 65-year-old archbishop of Milan, as the new Pope.

"The pre-eminent part of our pontificate will be occupied with the continuation of the Second Vatican Ecumenical Council on which the eyes of all men of good will are focused," Pope Paul said.

"This will be the principal work, for which we intend to devote all the energies which the Lord gave us so that the Catholic Church... can attract all men to it."

Pope Paul did not say when he would reconvene the Council. It was believed unlikely that the assembly would meet Sept. 8, as Pope John had scheduled.

Considerable preparatory work must be done, and this was suspended on Pope John's death June 3.

The 65-year-old Pope had often spoken with views similar to Pope John's.

The Pope spoke after each of the cardinals advanced one by one to his papal throne before the altar in the Sistine Chapel. They wore their great capes with long, flowing trains.

Pope Paul wore his white bishop's miter and a gold-embroidered stole. Each cardinal knelt before the Pope and kissed the ring on his right hand.

Tells Democratic Rally He Acted to Ward Off 'Threatened Destruction'

LA CROSSE (AP) — Gov. John Reynolds believed that nothing could be done to save the state party from the "threatened destruction" posed by a political state machine over the 1963-65 state budget.

Reynolds told delegates he had heard many explanations of why he was elected last November while Republicans swept all other state offices and tightened their hold on the Legislature.

One Dissent

"But I have heard no one claim that I was elected to preside over the mutilation of the accomplishments of our grandfathers," he said.

Only one convention floor dissent was raised to Reynolds' appeal that the party accept his reason for renouncing on a campaign pledge to heal the sales tax.

It came from Donald Lass, a West Allis delegate. Lass asked if Reynolds considered home heating fuels a necessity of life, and if so, why they were marked for taxation.

The governor said he had "no other choice" but to include them. A second question by Lass challenged the heavy pay increases Reynolds included in the budget-tax compromise he submitted to the GOP-controlled Legislature.

Reynolds said the state officials singled out for raises had not received any since 1955 and that the higher salaries would correct the situation.

Marine Pilot Survives Fall From Airplane

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A Marine jet fighter pilot told Friday of plunging 5,000 feet into the ocean under an unopened parachute.

What did he think of on the way down?

"I was thinking to myself what a helluva way to die, watching it come up at you," said 1st Lt. Cliff J. Jenkins.

Jenkins, 26, and his fighter squadron from nearby El Toro Marine Corps Air Station were 600 miles out Wednesday on the first leg of a flight to Japan.

His Crusader F4 developed engine trouble. The fuel tank caught fire. Jenkins rode the disabled craft down to about 5,000 feet and bailed out.

He pulled his parachute's ripcord but only the pilot chute, which opens the main chute, blossomed. The big one streamed out like a ribbon powerless to check his fall.

"I guess I hit about 100 feet away."

"I hit the water feet first. I don't remember how far down I went before I inflated my Mae West."

Supported by the life jacket he floated in the water about three hours before being picked up by a minesweeper alerted by radio.

Jenkins suffered fractures of the back, pelvis and both ankles. Doctors said his condition was serious but he probably would recover to fly again.

Strike Threatens 2 Neenah Plants of Kimberly-Clark

Spokesman Predicts It Will Carry Union Schedules Vote Monday;

Barring contract agreement within the next 48 hours, the threat of a strike at two Neenah plants of the Kimberly-Clark Corp. could become a reality. A strike vote has been scheduled for Monday.

The company announced this week that it would terminate its agreement with Local 482 of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, AFL-CIO, representing 1,300 production and maintenance workers at the Lakeview Mill, and Local 467 of the United Paperworkers and Papermakers Union, AFL-CIO, which is bargaining agent for some 300 workers in various divisions at the Badger Globe plant.

Company officials said in a letter to employees and the union, and a notice to the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service office at Green Bay, that the termination would become effective at noon Tuesday.

Union officials said it was the first time in 20 years of negotiations such a termination was made. The anniversary date for expiration of the contract was June 1, but the agreement is usually in effect until a new contract is arrived at.

Set Vote Time

The 11-member executive board of Local 482 held a special meeting at the Labor Hall, Menasha, Friday night for three hours and announced that a strike vote had been scheduled to be taken Monday at 3:30 p.m. at Germania Hall, Menasha.

The last time the union took such a vote was in 1952 and it carried, according to a union spokesman. He predicted it would again.

It was learned the executive board set up strike machinery and picked picket captains, which is the usual procedure under such circumstances when negotiations have broken off and a strike vote is to be taken.

"The union intends to have a full statement concerning the issues in this dispute as soon as the ballots have been tabulated," the spokesman said.

The union representative said

Churchill Leaves for Mediterranean Cruise

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill left Friday night for a Mediterranean cruise aboard the yacht Christina of Aristotle Onassis. Other members of the cruise party included Princess Lee Radziwill, sister of Mrs. John F. Kennedy, and Prince Radziwill. The Christina will go first to Elba and later to the Greek islands.

Private Officials of Aircraft Firm Paid Own Way, U. S. Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says two representatives of private aircraft firms paid their own way on an Air Force flight carrying a congressional delegation to Paris.

The taxpayers picked up the tab for the 17 congressmen and a number of officials of several congressional committees on the trip to attend the Paris Air Show last week, the department said.

The trip cost the government $16,224, the department said, but gave no breakdown on what this amount covered.

The two are Dale Grub of Avco Corp. and Vernon A. Johnson of Lockheed Aircraft Corp. The two firms have defense contracts with the government.

Kennedy Off Tonight For Tour of Europe

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy sets out tonight on a 10-day tour of Europe that may derive its greatest significance from his multiple appearances in European television screens.

Kennedy's voice and image—carrying a personal message of friendship from America—will be brought within range of more than 25 million television receivers in at least 12 western European countries.

The most dramatic moment is expected Wednesday when much of Europe will see a seven-hour, step-by-step telecast of Kennedy's motor tour through Communist-encircled Berlin.

Peer Over Wall

Television audiences will see the President mount a special platform at the Checkpoint Charlie border crossing to peer over the 22-month-old Berlin wall.

Parts of the Berlin program will be beamed live to the United States via both the Telstar and Relay satellites.

Kennedy plans to begin his four-country journey at 9:30 p.m. EDT tonight, taking off by jet transport from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., after spending much of the

Red Press Hails 'Hot Line' Pact

MOSCOW (AP) — The government newspaper Izvestia has hailed agreement for a hot line between Washington and Moscow as "a definite chance to prevent a military conflict due to accident or miscalculation."

It was the first Soviet comment on the accord signed Thursday in Geneva.

Izvestia Friday asserted, however, that the line was not a "cure-all against the dangers of the nuclear-missile arms race."

It charged the Western press was thus picturing the agreement to cover up what it called Western responsibility for disarmament talk failures.

Bizarre Murder Trial Scheduled To Start Monday

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Tom Bean, a lean and quiet boy of 18, is scheduled to go on trial Monday in one of the most bizarre murder cases in the colorful history of this gambling-tourist mecca.

Bean is charged with murder in the strangling and mutilation of Sonja McCaskie, a pretty former Olympic skier, the morning of April 5.

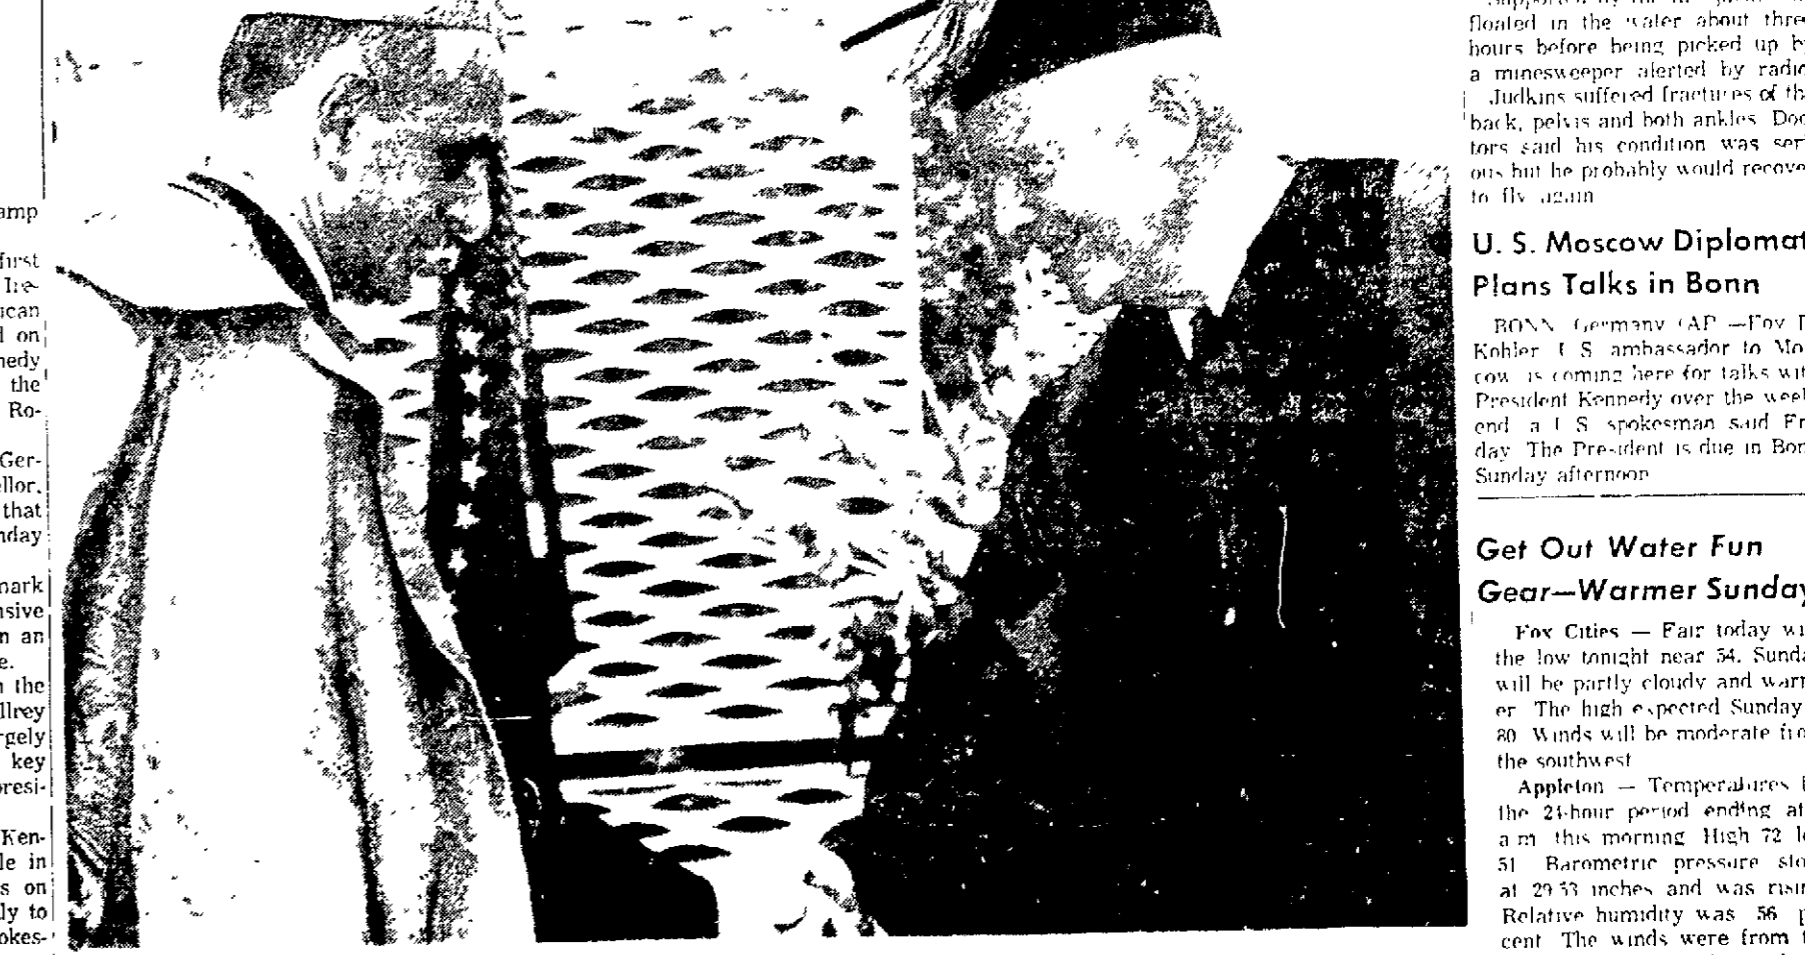

The trial is set for Washoe County District Court.

Harry Anderson, Bean's attorney, has been ill the past two weeks but Dist. Atty. William J. Raggio, who will prosecute, said Anderson told him Friday he planned to be in court for the opening proceedings Monday.

Anderson said he would have the defense, which he is handling for a token $1 fee, on insanity.

Bean, from Reno, pleaded innocent when arraigned in District Court last month.

Miss McCaskie's mutilated body was found in her bloody four-room duplex in southwest Reno by a policeman after a baby-sitter he came concerned about her and called police.

Giovanni Battista Cardinal Montini and President Eisenhower shook hands at Notre Dame University commencement at South Bend, Ind., June 5, 1960, where both received honorary doctor of laws degrees.

Contrasting Views Presented in Wake Of Governor's Plan

MADISON (AP) — Republican state senators have differed on the reception party members will give the compromise budget-tax bill when debate opens on Monday.

The center of the contrasting views is the proposal presented last Monday by Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds. The plan would raise $152.3 million in new revenues to finance a record $634 million budget for the 1963-65 biennium beginning July 1.

The proposal extends the state's selective three per cent sales tax to most items short of food, clothing and drugs and provides for two-fifths of one per cent increases in the income tax rates.

Republican Floorleader Robert Knowles of New Richmond said Friday, "I think we're making progress, nobody can get every thing he wants in a compromise."

He and Sen. Walter J. Hollander, R-Rosendale, indicated enough Republicans would back the bill to pass it, if several of the 11 Democratic senators gave their support.

Strong Dissent

A strong dissent came from Republican Sens. Reuben LaFave of Oconto and Chester Dempsey of Hartland. They called for a $570 million reduction in the budget.

LaFave denied their was any vote at a Thursday caucus on provisions of the bill. He said there was only a discussion aimed at rounding up information.

"That was so that over the weekend while they are at home, they could study the proposal and prepare to submit amendments in number," LaFave said in a statement.

"There is no strong GOP support for the bill," he continued, "and there is, instead, a great possibility of only token Republican support and many drastic cuts."

President May Miss Pope's Coronation

Legality of JFK Civil Rights Plan Doubted

Lawmakers Must Decide if Laws Violate Constitution

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy has proposed to Congress that it enact certain "civil rights" laws, and he assumes they will be held constitutional by the Supreme Court. But the truth is these same proposals are of doubtful constitutionality and members of Congress, when they have taken an oath to uphold the constitution will have a hard time deciding whether, by voting for such legislation, they will be violating or sustaining the constitution itself.

A little more than 88 years ago Congress passed a law providing for equal accommodations in public facilities—hotels, restaurants and eating places. It sought to ban racial discrimination. But the Supreme Court of the United States, in an action known as the "civil rights cases," decided in 1883, held that Congress had no power under the Fourteenth Amendment to write any such laws and that its only power was to nullify state action of a discriminatory character. The Supreme Court decision was by an 8 to 2 vote, and the majority opinion said:

Not Corrective Legislation
"It is clear that the law in question cannot be sustained by any grant of legislative power made to Congress by the Fourteenth Amendment. . . . the law in question, without any reference to adverse state legislation on the subject, declares that all persons shall be entitled to equal accommodations and privileges of inns, public conveyances, and places of public amusement, and imposes a penalty upon any individual who shall deny to any citizen such equal accommodations and privileges."

This is not corrective legislation, it is primary and direct; it takes immediate and absolute possession of the subject of the right of admission to inns, public conveyances, and places of amusement. It supercedes and displaces state legislation on the same subject, or only allows it permissive force. It ignores such legislation, and assumes that the matter is one that belongs to the domain of national regulation.

"Whether it would not have been a more effective protection of the rights of citizens to have clothed Congress with plenary power over the whole subject, is not now the question. What we have to decide is, whether such plenary power has been conferred upon Congress by the Fourteenth amendment, and, in our judgment, it has not."

It was declared by the court that Congress could pass a law nullifying what a state had done by way of racial discrimination, but that it could not deal with a situation in which a state has passed no law or takes no action whatsoever. The citizen's remedy, it was pointed out, lay in procedures through the states and not through the federal government.

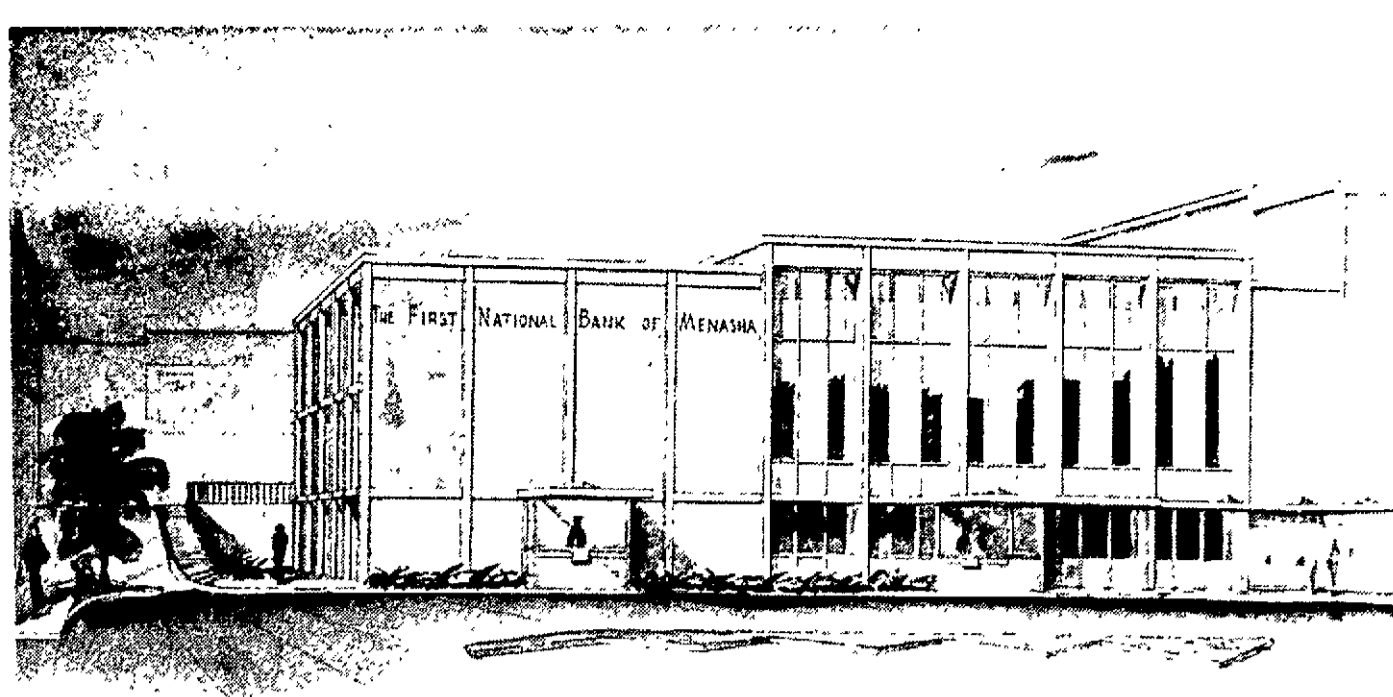

Federal Power
Mr. Kennedy in his message pointed out that there are 30 states which have enacted laws against discrimination in public places, and he seems to feel that when the states fail to pass such laws the government can step in and do so. It is precisely this extension of federal power which the Supreme Court in the 1883 case declared unconstitutional.

On the matter of employment, the President is stepping on delicate ground when he insists that the federal government can compel an employer to hire somebody whom he does not wish in his employ because of friction among his other employees due to racial feeling. Incidentally, the President had one sentence in his message which probably will be received with much enthusiasm by national organizations that have insisted that there is an inalienable "right to work" and that state laws are needed to forbid labor unions to make a contract with an employer which would compel the latter to hire an employee who refuses to join a union. The President said:

"Denial of the right to work is unfair, regardless of its victim. There are other implications in the President's message which will complicate the legal controversies that are bound to arise if the 'civil rights' proposals he made are enacted into law.

Thus, for instance, the President hints that some day private schools may be proceeded against. He says:

"While this (proposed) act does not include private colleges and schools, I strongly urge them to live up to their responsibilities."

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1864 U.S. Army Lieutenant A. W. Greely and his expedition were rescued at Cape Sabine in the arctic. The party, originally numbering 18, and marooned for nearly three years, was found by a search mission led by Commander Winfield Schley.

In 1611 Dutch navigator Henry Hudson's crew mutinied and set him and eight other men adrift in a small boat which was never heard from again.

In 1869, the Georgia Supreme Court declared Negroes eligible for public office.

In 1941, Nazi Germany invaded Russia during World War II.

In 1946, two P-80 jet planes made the first jet-propelled air mail flights from Schenectady, New York to Dayton, Ohio and from Schenectady to Washington, D.C.

and to recognize no arbitrary bar of race or color—for such bars have no place in any institution, the least of all one devoted to the truth and to the improvement of all mankind."

What will provoke the most commotion is that part of the President's proposals which deal with uses of public funds. He asks Congress to "pass a single comprehensive provision making it clear that the federal government is not required, under any statute, to furnish any kind of financial assistance—by way of grant, loan, contract, guaranty, insurance or otherwise—to any program or activity in which racial discrimination occurs."

The President would leave the determination of whether a grant, loan, contract guaranty or insurance can be given to a local project if the local administrator who represents the federal government thinks there is any racial discrimination involved. While the objective may be considered worthy one from the standpoint of the President's message, which means that the federal government will be of doubtful constitutionality. There is no precedent for action of this kind made are enacted into law.

Thus, for instance, the President hints that some day private schools may be proceeded against. He says:

"While this (proposed) act does not include private colleges and schools, I strongly urge them to live up to their responsibilities."

Booster tickets still are on sale. Borchardt said. The tickets, good for seven rides, are being sold for one dollar. They can be purchased at various New London business places. The deadline for purchase of tickets will be Monday.

Flea Trainer Has to Scratch for 'Stars'

LONDON (AP) — Miss Pauline Testo — who runs a flea circus — was scratching around today looking for performers.

"Fleas," she said, "are hard to get these days."

Miss Testo blamed Britain's health authorities for her predicament.

"Health authorities all over the country have been carrying on an increasingly active campaign against fleas. There's a risk of them being wiped out," she said.

Miss Testo needs performers for her circus because she has several engagements coming up.

"I'm down to four stars," she explained, "and that's not enough to put on a good show."

She said fleas are not difficult to train — once you get the right material.

She said there are plenty of dog fleas, but they don't live long enough.

"I need the sort of fleas that get on human beings," she went on. "They live for months and can be trained for the various acts."

Miss Testo said she is willing to pay well for potential stars. The going rate is $1.68 a dozen.

"I'll pay more than that," she said.

Not On Him

When Miss Testo recruits enough talented performers she will return to the old routine—flea dancers, flea tight rope walkers, flea fencers and flea charioteers.

She said her next engagement was at Newcastle-on-Tyne and, unless she gets some performers pretty soon, she might have to cancel the show.

"I have some hopes of borrowing a few from a friend," she explained, "a friend who has fleas. Not on him, mind you."

Electors to Vote on High School Bonds

Marion Board Accepts New Election Plan

Members Picked By Ballot Now At Central School

MARION — The Marion School District board has accepted a petition that requires school board members to be elected by ballot at polls established at Central School on the day of the annual school meeting.

Previously, members were elected at the meeting with nominations from the floor.

Persons who want to run for the board must file papers with Clerk James Rogers or at the school office before 5 p.m. July 2. The annual school meeting for the district will be at 8 p.m. July 22.

Board members whose terms have expired are James Rogers and F. H. Uttermarck, Marion, and Clarence Dieck, Dupont. James Brunner, Town of Grant, will resign.

Board members suggested that a petition requiring the division of the district into three areas for school purposes be circulated. This would provide for three members from Marion, three from the Shawano County district and three from the Waupaca County district outside the Marion city limits.

New London Issue Calls for $1.9 Million; Would be Retired Over 19 Years

NEW LONDON — Electors of planned four bonding plans to the New London Unified School about 50 people at the meeting, district will vote Tuesday in the and said the estimated tax special referendum to bond the increase on the $1.9 million bond district for $1.9 million to build issue would be $5.94 per $1,000, a new high school. An earlier assessed valuation for taxpayers $2.7 million issue was turned in the City of New London, down April 2.

Financing of the proposed $1.9 million high school was explained at the third and final publicized value. As an example, an informational meeting held at $10,000 home would have an assessed valuation of $5,770. The increase in taxes next year at the $5.94 figure would be $34.27. Fig-

Ernest Clark, a representative of T. G. Evensen and Associates, was quoted by Clark were estimates a bonding consulting firm hired by the board of education, estimated that the bond issue would be for 20 years.

Each township of the district is assessed on a different percentage of equalized valuation. Clark said he pointed out that it makes no difference in an individual's dollar amount of taxes whether he is in an area that is assessing at 50 per cent of equalized valuation or in one that assesses at 110 per cent of equalized valuation. The taxpayer will pay the same dollar amount of taxes on the basis of real (equalized) value.

Estimated tax increases per assessed $1,000 in the townships of the district and the percentage they are assessed at are Bear Creek, 56.3 per cent, $6.07 per $1,000 assessed valuation; Caledonia, 44.6 per cent, $7.69; Fremont, 61.0 per cent, $5.62; Lebanon, 92.7 per cent, $3.70; Mukwa, 62.3 per cent, $5.51; Dale, 53 per cent, $6.47; Deer Creek, 59.8 per cent, $5.73; Greenville, 55.9 per cent, $6.13; Hortonville, 41.8 per cent, $8.20; Liberty, 112.1 per cent, $3.06; Maple Creek, 53.8 per cent, $6.37; Clayton, 96.5 per cent, $7.28; and Wolf River, 56 per cent, $5.12.

The above figures, which are estimates of plan "A", would require the debt at the rate of $100,000 per year for 19 years. The other plans presented by Clark are based on a sliding scale and the tax increases would vary slightly. All of the figures are estimates.

Borrowing Power
Clark added that if the bond issue is approved by the voters and the bonds are sold, the district will still be in good shape financially because it will still have more than $1 million of borrowing power left for future building programs. By not bonding to the limit, he said, a lower interest rate can also be obtained on this bond issue.

The way in which $1 million was slashed from an earlier proposed school which was turned down by voters in the April 2 election was explained by board member Vernon Truesdale.

The earlier plan called for a two-story school with a large gymnasium. By reducing the size of the gym by 20,040 square feet and cutting the size of other rooms and areas, the price was cut below the $2 million mark, he said. The new proposed school is of a one-story design and 54,593 square feet smaller than the original proposal.

CHILTON — A field archery range is being planned by members of the city's newly formed archery club, according to Dan Albedyll, club president.

At a meeting Thursday evening at city hall, plans were disclosed for the field range which will be south of here along a wooded ledge area on property owned by Zimmerman Product Co. Albedyll said the club has been granted permission to use the property for the range.

Meeting with the club were Gordon Kallinburg and the Rev. R. O. Walkenhorst, officers of the newly formed Broken Arrow Archers in the Hilbert-Potter-Brillion area. The Broken Arrow Club also is planning a new field range, according to Albedyll.

Officers of the two clubs also discussed the possibility of organizing a new league of area communities.

Plans for a future intra-club league shooting in the Calumet Arena at the fairgrounds were also unveiled. Albedyll said he hopes for at least five teams in one circuit and a couple's league during the winter months.

Franchett Asks County Control Of Road Access

Valley Planning Director Talks at Highway Meeting

MARINETTE — Eugene P. Franchett, planning director of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, told the 1963 summer highway conference here Friday that counties should have more control over access to major county trunk highways.

"The highway congestion has been alleviated some on the state trunk highway system, the Interstate System and in Milwaukee County on expressways, by designating highways with access points under public control," he declared. "The objective is to create a traffic-service system which will give the highway user adequate transportation facilities, not only in the open country, but in suburban and urban areas, by reducing interference of grade crossings and of unrestricted access to the highway from roadside places."

Cities' Need

Franchett reminded highway commissioners that in the urban areas of Wisconsin, the county trunk is carrying more and more of the inter-urban and suburban to urban traffic.

He said an expressway is close to being built right now in the Fox Valley region.

Franchett cited the need for legislation allowing county boards, through their highway commission, to establish controlled access on county trunk highways.

Pending Legislation

Such a bill is in the legislature now, Franchett noted. "The bill will allow counties to control the access on highways of the county trunk system, provided an engineering survey determines the average daily traffic potential is in excess of 2,000 vehicles, and requires other standards and hearings."

Franchett said many legislators recognize the need for such a bill. He said if the bill does not pass there will be three detrimental results—jeopardized highway investment, higher operating costs for motor vehicles and hazardous travel.

"There is a dire need for controlled access on sections of our county trunk highways. Without this control, the newly-constructed first class facility eventually becomes no more than a city street. We in the Fox River Valley are already experiencing this need," he concluded.

ZIP Code Digits Assigned For Chilton Area Residents

CHILTON — Chilton Postmaster Claude Weber and postmasters from neighboring communities have announced the five-digit ZIP code numbers assigned to their respective post offices.

At Chilton the Zone Improvement Plan number is 53014. Weber said. This applies to all persons with Chilton city or rural route addresses originating at the Chilton post office.

The number is intended to be included as the last segment of return addresses on mail after July 1. Senders are also asked to use the code in addressing mail once they have learned the ZIP code numbers of all areas to which they are sending mail.

The number is a code designating a national zone, state and post office.

Postmaster Sylvester Penning at Stockbridge noted that the number for Stockbridge addresses is 53088. In Stockbridge special care is required because the official mailing addresses of many persons living within the corporate limits of the village are rural routes originating out of Chilton and Hilbert.

Penning cautioned that only those persons with an official "Stockbridge" address use the aforementioned number. Those living on a Chilton route, even though they reside within the village limits, would use the Chilton ZIP code number.

Likewise, those living on Hilbert routes would use the Hilbert code. It is 54129 according to Postmaster Gordon Hauser.

Officers of the Seven American Legion posts in Calumet County were installed at a joint installation ceremony at Brillion Legion Hall. # Oshkosh Youths Parade on Beer

Seek Repeal of Statute Which Raised Legal Drinking Age

OSHKOSH — Oshkosh young adults demonstrated Friday night, asking repeal of the recently enacted ordinance raising the legal beer drinking age in the city from 18 to 21.

A cavalcade of cars traveled through the downtown area of the city during rush hour traffic, towing trailers with effigies of the four Oshkosh councilmen who voted to raise the drinking age.

Others paraded down sidewalks carrying signs. Later, a demonstration, attended by about 250, was held at Monument Square in front of the Grand Theater.

Police blocked off the street for the demonstrators.

Cautioned Demonstrators

Leaders of the organization, Shirley Mech, 916 Wright St., and Dennis Jones, 1716 Mt. Vernon St., cautioned their followers not to create any disturbance. Police reported the demonstrators were very orderly.

Councilman William Manske, who opposed raising the beer drinking age, told those gathered they deserved the right to a public referendum.

Signs carried by demonstrators read "Evil For One, Evil For All," "Sand Pits, Quarries, Cottages, Here We Come," "Prohibition 1963," "Don't Drive Us Out On The Highways," "Wake Up Oshkosh," and "Are We Still Babies?"

The group also started to circulate petitions in hopes of getting 3,000 signatures to ask for a referendum. Another demonstration is planned for next Friday night, they said.

State Tax Deadlock Hurts School District

Marion System Will Lose $60,000 in Aids if No Compromise, Superintendent Reports

MARION — Joint School District No. 3 faces a $60,000 loss in state aids if Gov. John Reynolds and the Wisconsin legislature are unable to reach a tax compromise, Supt. Lloyd Nell told board members recently.

Teacher contracts have already been signed and the loss of aids would be "a real problem," Nell stated. He also said that teaching and administrative supplies are at a minimum.

"It is possible," he stated, "that planned capital outlays might be cut to partly compensate for the revenue loss." The balance would be borne by district taxpayers. Last year the district spent $504,000, exceeding the budget figure by $17,000.

Other Action

In other action, the board accepted teacher resignations from Gerald Frink, Harlan Adams, Mrs. Mildred Sass, Mrs. Judith Arndt, Miss Carol Genskow, Gary Peterson and Mrs. Helen Koch.

Three teacher contracts were approved. James Neberdeu, a St. Norbert College graduate who taught at De Pere for two years, will teach band; Mrs. Phyllis Ayres, Wittenberg, will join the vocal department, and Miss Mary Souder, graduate of Waushara County Teachers College, will be in the elementary system at Fairview.

For Winnebago County

Fond du Lac to Intervene In Regional Port Hearing

OSHKOSH — Fond du Lac Association of Commerce and the City of Fond du Lac have been given permission by Edward T. Stodola, hearing examiner for the Civil Aeronautics Board, to intervene in the pending regional airport hearings set for July 9 at Wausau.

The Fond du Lac Council and the Association of Commerce of that city have petitioned to intervene on behalf of the Winnebago County airport.

Stodola, in granting the petition, said it is "found that the petitioners have substantial interest in the subject matter of the proceedings which may not be adequately represented by existing parties, and that the granting of the petition will not unduly broaden the issues or delay the proceeding."

Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber said this will increase the number of witnesses appearing on behalf of the Winnebago County airport to six.

GENEVA (AP) — The 17 national disarmament conference went into a six-week recess Friday after receiving formal notification of the American-Soviet agreement on a communications hot line between Washington and Moscow.

Soviet Delegate Seymon R. Tsarapkin said the hot line agreement was rather a modest achievement compared with the continuing deadlock on a nuclear test ban treaty and general disarmament.

American British and Soviet delegates are scheduled to meet in Moscow in mid-July for another attempt to agree on a test ban.

Wherever Actor Niven Goes, So Does His Golden Oscar

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With David Niven it's a case of having Oscar must travel.

After making seven films in seven countries the ubiquitous Britisher has settled down to make a movie in Hollywood of all places. And you can jolly well bet that his Oscar — Separate Tables, 1958 — came along with him.

"Why of course," he remarked on the set of King of the Mount-

Benedict Has Ex-Addict as Legal Client

BY TV SCOUT
6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — Sam Benedict's repeat is a good one although you may question whether justice is served by the ending.

At any rate Sam (Edmond O'Brien) is representing Inge (Stevens) an ex-drug addict in her legal battle to resume custody of the son she abandoned years before. This is a good look at the extent to which addicts can be cured.

7:30-8 (Channel 11) — Hootenanny hoots from the campus of the University of Virginia with a well rounded folk music program. The program runs the gamut from traditional numbers like "Bald Mountain" (done by Josh White Jr.) to the satirical "It's the Man" (Bud and Travis) from ballads like "Gold Wedding Ring" (Jo Mape) to historical items like "Lizzie Borden" (The Chad Mitchell Trio).

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2) — The De-fenders' repeat is a laud combination of drama and point of view. The protagonist is Richard Jordan playing a wealthy boy whose speeding sports car kills three men. The boy's father (Harold I. Stone) tries to use his high pressure financial tactics to get his son off precipitating a struggle in the boy — his feelings of guilt vs his desire to avoid prison.

8-10 (Channel 4-5) — Saturday Night at the Movies repeats White Witch Doctor, one of those passions-on-the-trail in Africa stories. Susan Hayward, Robert Mitchum and Walter Selaz are among those involved in this safari (color).

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — Have Gun Will Travel repeats an episode which should have been called Have Spear Gun. Will Travel. Richard Boone as Paladin stars in a spoof of underwater films and it's all good fun. He's out to recover a sunken treasure chest but must battle a fishing nut and three outlaws to get it.

9-10 (Channel 2) — Gunsmoke's repeat lets Amanda Blake as Kitty serve as the focal point of its story for a change. Two newly-rich miners stop off in Dodge and one of them (Liam Redmond) falls hard for Kitty. But she can't see him for dust — even gold dust. He determines to force her into the street so she'll have to marry him.

Use Bible More, Synod Leader Urges

ST. LOUIS — Intensified use of the Bible by individual Christians and congregations in their daily lives was urged here by the Rev. Dr. Oliver R. Harms, president of the 2,500,000-member Lutheran Church Missouri Synod as the answer to the United States Supreme Court's decision outlawing Bible reading and prayer in the public schools.

"The Lutheran Church Missouri Synod has always supported the constitution of the United States and especially favors the First Amendment which prohibits the establishment of any one religion but encourages the free exercise of all," President Harms commented.

"The decision of the United States Supreme Court makes it all the more incumbent on all Christians to utilize the channels which the home, the church and its educational agencies offer for the study of God's Word," he added.

A graduate of California Concordia College, Oakland, Calif., and a 1932 graduate of Concordia Seminary St. Louis, Chaplain Dreith received an honorary doctorate from the seminary in 1957. Before entering the Navy chaplaincy as a lieutenant in 1957, Chaplain Dreith was assistant professor of English at Concordia College, Edmonton, Alta. Canada and later pastor of Faith Lutheran Church in San Diego, Calif.

Barry Seeks Exile Government in Cuba

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Friday a provisional Cuban government could be established on the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo "with out the slightest risk."

He said such a proposal, advanced in the Senate Monday by Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., warrants careful consideration by the administration "as a means of establishing a free Cuban outpost directed toward the eventual liberation of Cuba from the Fidel Castro regime."

Jesuit Calls For Public Relations Move

Rev. Burke Says Use Of Techniques Can Remove Conflict

BY MARIE PRICE
 NEW YORK (AP)—Are public relations techniques suitable for church use?

A 365-page "yes" answer has been written by the Rev. Thomas J. M. Burke, S.J., director of public relations for Jesuit Missions, in a doctoral dissertation said to be the first one on public relations for religious institutions.

"All religious groups, at every level of American society, can and should use organized public relations techniques to remove unnecessary conflict and misunderstanding among themselves and between religious groups and society at large," says Father Burke.

Persuade People
 Father Burke outlines how all groups can utilize planning and continued direction that are essential to a successful public relations campaign.

His view is this:
 The basis of public relations is to persuade people. Religious groups aim at persuading people of an ethical truth they think is usable.

So, using techniques highly developed by professional public relations men can enable churches to promote religious and social values in society, communicate better with their own people, and further cooperation among denominations.

If religious values are to have the place they should have in people's lives, he says, "public relations will have to be utilized lest the field be left only to values being promoted by business and government."

There is nothing inherently wrong with business and government values, Father Burke believes, but they are limited.

Charge Two Rivers Firm With Violation Of Antitrust Statutes

CHICAGO (AP)—The Hamilton Mfg. Co. of Two Rivers, Wis., and one of its former executives were among seven corporations and five individuals indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of violating antitrust laws in the sale of metal library shelving.

Among the individuals named was R. G. Halvorsen, former Hamilton vice president.

Conviction on the charge carries a maximum fine of $50,000 for each company and a fine of $50,000 and a year in jail for individuals.

The indictment, returned in U.S. District Court, charged the companies and individuals rigged bids in the sale of shelving and allocated customers among themselves during the period 1954 through 1960.

It said the defendants met several times a year in various sections of the country, allocated the customers and fixed prices.

The POWER of FAITH

Another Declaration of independence and freedom is contained in one of our cherished national hymns, "My Country, 'Tis of Thee."

It was written by Samuel Francis Smith, a student at Andover Theological Seminary, to a piece of German music, and was first sung at a children's celebration in the Parks Street Church in Boston, on July 4, 1832.

Although Dr. Smith had an influential and productive career as a clergyman, writer, editor of the Christian Review and editorial secretary of the American Baptist Missionary Union, his fame rests on this enduring poem.

His faith, his love of God and country inspired the immortal words that the authors of the Declaration of Independence would have sung as we do today:

"Our fathers' God, to Thee,
 Author of Liberty,
 To Thee we sing:
 Long may our land be bright
 With freedom's holy light,
 Protect us by thy might,
 Great God, our King."

Church-State Accord Likely, Says Top Czech Communist

BY HANS NEUERBOURG
 PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—This Communist country's chief authority on church-state relations says he is confident a settlement will be reached regarding Archbishop Josef Beran, the confined spiritual head of the Roman Catholic church in this country.

In an interview, Plojhar for the first time disclosed details about the living conditions of the archbishop, now 74, who was removed from his office and banished from Prague by the Communist government more than 12 years ago.

Beran is at Nova Rysa monastery in southern Moravia and is not allowed to leave. Plojhar said the archbishop is in good health and working on a book on the life of Agnes, a beatified Bohemian woman of royal blood who founded the first nunnery in Prague.

The book could serve as documentation required for a canonization process.

"Now that he has no duties, he has ample time to devote himself to writing this book," Plojhar said. "He has the library of the monastery at his disposal and he also gets everything else which he requires for his scientific work."

"Nuns take care of his household and he receives whatever medical attention is needed. Recent rumors about an illness, which have been published in the West, are false."

Anti-Communist
 Archbishop Beran was one of the most stubborn foes the Communists faced in this country. He accused them of terrorist tactics. In June 1949 he was hounded down by bands of Communist hecklers while trying to deliver a sermon at St. Vitus Cathedral. The government accused him of trying to wreck the nation's peace and economy.

Finally, in March 1951, the government announced it had banished him from the seat of his archdiocese. There had been reports he was to be tried as was the primate of Hungary, Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, who had been given a life sentence. Cardinal Mindszenty is in asylum in the American legation in Budapest, having been freed from prison in the Hungarian revolution of 1956.

There were reports, which never have been affirmed, that Archbishop Beran was one of the three cardinals Pope John XXIII created secretly "in pectore" in 1960.

Plojhar said Beran is under no punishment but was "suspended" from his office because he refused to make a declaration of loyalty to the Communist government.

Your Problems

If Telephone User Imposes, Let the Bloomin' Thing Ring

BY ANN LANDERS
 DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have read your column for almost eight years and have learned a lot from it. Because of you I no longer feel guilty about refusing to answer the doorbell when the neighborhood pest shows up at 9:30 a.m. with her 3-year-old — full of conversation which used to last through lunch. Now I have another problem.

Does a person have the right not to answer the telephone if she mer and we do not allow her to doesn't feel like talking, or if it is date. Both my husband and I are readers of your column and we are standing firm on this dating notorious yakker: telephones my business until Margo gets to high at approximately the same time school, which is what you recommend. She has tied me up for as long as 45 minutes with every morning. She has tied me up with potty gossip and foolish chatter. I decided to just let the phone ring. I think she is wise. Am I girls. She receives a good many wrong to do this?—Will Power

The problem is this: Margo has numerous friends, both boys and girls. She receives a good many telephone calls and both boys and girls seem to be visiting here in the call does so at her convenience. Just because she is willing, able and ready to gab is no sign you have to be on deck to listen. If you don't feel like talking—or listening—just let the bloomin' thing ring.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My problem is not one on which the world will rise or fall but it has caused me endless consternation and I need help. About four months ago I began to date a very nice man who operates a small business near my place of employment. He invited me out and I accepted. He brought along a corsage of green baby orchids. My dress was electric blue. I wore the flowers although electric blue and green are hideous together, as you can imagine. Two weeks later it happened again. He brought along a corsage of red roses. My dress was a flaming tangerine. The color combination couldn't have been more nauseating.

Last week his lodge had its summer formal. This time he went all out—a huge purple orchid. My gown was ruing dynasty red. I couldn't bear to put that purple flower on my red gown. So I pinned it to my evening bag. I'm afraid he was hurt. Do you have any advice for me? This man seems to have a rare talent for selecting flowers of exactly the wrong color.—Erna

Dear Erna: Don't discourage his tender sentiments. Just let him know that your favorite flowers are white — roses, gardenias, orchids, lilies, mums. Anything white.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our West leads a trump, and you win with the queen. If you try to ruff out your losing clubs you will manage to get only one ruff in dummy. The opponents will surely lead another trump as soon as they regain the lead.

You cannot hope to make your contract that way. You will get five trumps in your own hand, one ruff in dummy, and the two black aces. This comes to only eight tricks, two short of what you need.

The best chance is to bring in dummy's diamonds. You can do this if you find the honors split, and if West has no more than three diamonds.

Start Early
 You start early by leading your singleton diamond at the second trick. West must step up with the ace since otherwise it will be ruffed out on the next round of diamonds.

West's best defense is to lead a spade to dummy's ace. You lead the queen of diamonds from dummy, planning to ruff with a high trump if East plays the king. East's best defense is to play low, and you discard a spade. Ruff a diamond with the king of trumps, lead a trump to dummy's ten, ruff another diamond with the ace of trumps and lead your last trump to dummy's jack.

Now the trumps have been drawn, and dummy's diamonds are good. Remember this type of play the next time you have a singleton opposite dummy's long suit.

Daily Question
 Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S K 9 8 3, H 8 7 6, D A 10, C J 10 9 8. What do you say? Answer: Bid two hearts. Your hand is good enough for just one response. You would prefer to have four trumps or three in a high honor, but even three low trumps must do in a pinch.

Will Macmillan Retire?

Prime Minister Macmillan's leadership of the Conservative Party was upheld in Parliament this week on a vote of confidence over the Profumo scandal, but his margin was so slight that there are serious doubts in England how much longer he can continue as head of the majority party. Twenty-seven members of his own party abstained from the voting.

There was dissatisfaction with Macmillan within the ranks of his party even before the Profumo case broke. There must be a new general election for Members of Parliament by October of 1964, and all public opinion polls show the Labor Party to be favored at the present time. Mr. Macmillan is 69 years old, and some segments of his party feel the Conservatives need younger leadership to recapture public enthusiasm.

The Profumo case is a second successive major blow to Macmillan's leadership. Earlier this year he had thrown his government's weight solidly behind British membership in the Common Market, in the hope that successful conclusion of that project would give the Conservatives the weapon they needed to go into a new election. Then came President DeGaulle's veto. Macmillan has one card left to play. In conferences with President Kennedy soon they will discuss their joint approach to Russia at a semi-summit meeting over a nuclear test ban treaty. If by any stretch of the imagination such a conference should pave the way to successful conclusion of such a pact with the Soviets, this of course would be a great lift for Macmillan.

But such slight hopes are held for success that there have been questions raised in the Conservative Party whether Macmillan shouldn't step down as party leader even before he meets with Kennedy.

The one quality which has epitomized Macmillan all during his public life is a "stiff upper lip" determination. He has fought through three previous Parliamentary crises already this year. And he has given no indication of any intention of retiring even in the heat of the Profumo scandal.

But it is a better than even bet that a new and younger man will lead the Conservatives into the next general election in Britain.

Gronouski's Blind Spot

Tax Commissioner John Gronouski made the statement this week that sales taxes are by necessity discriminatory.

His comment came on the provision in the budget-tax compromise plan of Governor Reynolds to include local advertising among the taxed items, but to exempt national advertising. Gronouski explained that the United States Constitution prohibits state taxes on interstate commerce.

"A sales tax always discriminates against those taxed and in favor of those not taxed," Gronouski said. "In states with general sales taxes, services of barbers are taxed, services of a lawyer are not. No matter how the law is written, there are exemptions."

Without becoming involved in the merits of the tax on advertising, we would like to take strenuous issue with Mr. Gronouski. In his statement he had completely ignored one form of general sales taxation which does not discriminate in any way. That is a general sales tax on all retail sales combined with a credit refund to consumers.

And this incidentally is the type of general sales tax program which has been proposed for Wisconsin by the Republican Party for several years. That Mr. Gronouski is not familiar with the idea we are not surprised. He has ignored it consistently in leading the Democrat fight against it.

We sometimes wonder whether Mr. Gronouski is working for the State of Wisconsin or solely for Governor Reynolds.

Surprise From Asia

There was a surprising agreement recently when representatives of the governments of Malaysia, the Philippines and Indonesia met in Manila to discuss ways in which they could cooperate to their mutual benefit. Their official release emphasized that they would join together to discourage "subversion" and there was no question but that the enemy they talked about was Communist China.

We might well expect both the Philippines and Malaya to take such a strong and unmistakable stand. But President Sukarno of Indonesia smiles at Communists as often as he frowns. Was this just another example of his riding the pendulum?

It is quite likely that fear of Red China is very real to Sukarno. There are statistics and history behind this agreement. For centuries the Chinese have migrated to various other Asian countries. Their success in business and trade has been noticeable. So, too, has been their affinity for home. It is seldom that the Chinese populations assimilate with the native populations or show any allegiance to their adopted government. Their exclusivity and their success have both been resented by natives in many countries in Asia. They have also been feared.

The number of Chinese in the various countries makes them a definite minority but in many cases a powerful, wealthy and influential minority. There are only 44,000

Chinese in Laos where the total population is almost 2 million but they are thought to have a considerable military influence. The 3½ million Chinese in Thailand are suspected of some degree of subversive activity. There is political pressure by the 2½ million in Malaya. And Indonesia with 3½ million Chinese had a visit last month from the Chinese head of state Liu Shao-Chi. Reportedly Liu told Sukarno that Peking resented his aloofness toward home-grown and local Chinese Communists.

It is difficult when dealing with Sukarno, to tell whether his current agreement about the danger of the Chinese is just this month's face turned toward what he conceives of as true neutrality. It was also clear from the document, in which no other country was specifically named, that the fear of the Chinese is greater than the fear of Communism. It would not matter greatly to most Asians, apparently, who or what was in power in China. They would still see a threat.

But this age-old fear, which certainly has a strong basis in fact, right now can serve to draw together the non-Communist nations to oppose any extension of Chinese Communist power. And the leaders of the West are quite aware that the Asian people themselves must be alert if Communism—or Chinese power under Communism—is not to creep forward.

The thousands of Americans going to Europe on vacations this year will find many an odd-ball but fun-filled folklore festival for their entertainment.

Such varied attractions as goose parades . . . pretzel celebrations . . . midnight song-and-dance fiestas . . . bull-chasing . . . kissing festival . . . marriage of giants . . . and other antics are in store for the visitor.

Every country has a variety of festivals and they range from the solemn to the frenzied. The origin of many has been lost in the mists of history.

One of the oldest, and most unusual, will take place in Great Britain at Great Dunmow, Essex, but you'll have to hurry to make it. It's set for June 29.

Report on Marriage

Every two years at Great Dunmow a "flitch", or side, of bacon is awarded to a couple who can prove they have never repented of their marriage.

Trial is held before a judge and jury of six maidens and six bachelors and there usually are hundreds of spectators on hand—all, doubtless, doubters of the evidence given.

The custom dates from the 12th century, though wives have taken part in the trial only since the 18th century. The husbands probably weren't convincing enough beforehand.

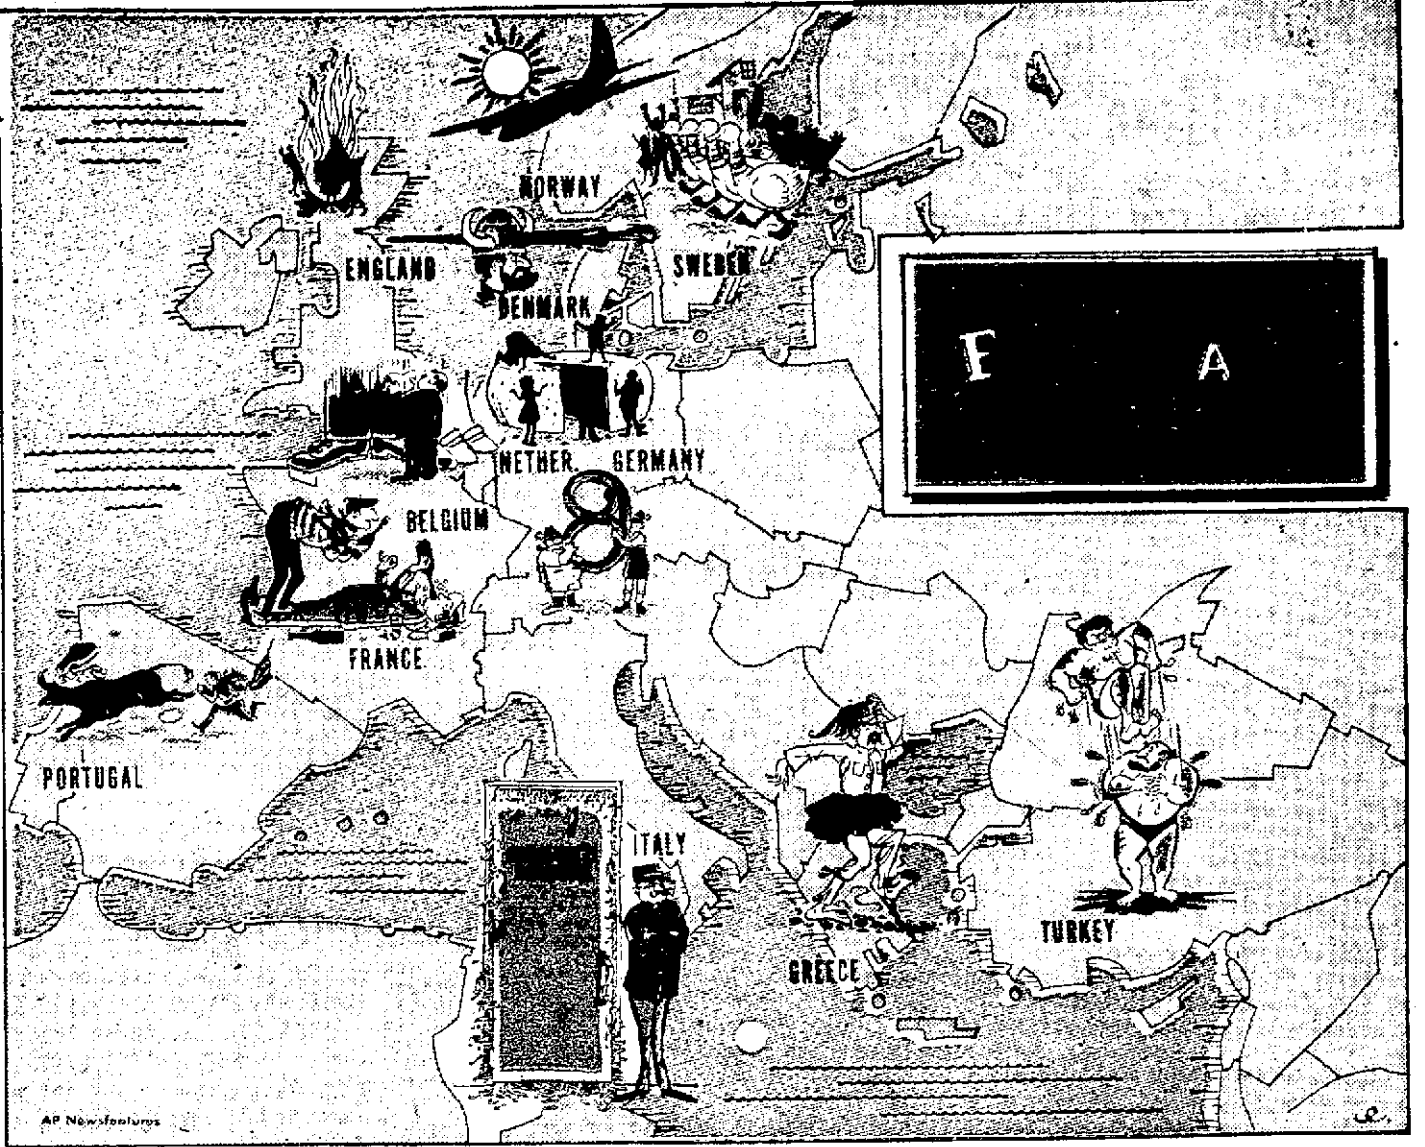

For those with a yen to chase bulls they can chase to their hearts' content at a Portuguese town in July, but chances are that the chasing will turn out to be the other way around.

This event is scheduled for either July 6-7 or 14-15 at Vila Franca de Xira, 20 miles from Lisbon. It is called the Great Festival of the Red Waistcoat and features a free-for-all bull catching contest in the streets of the town. There also will be fireworks—aside from that provided by the bulls—plus a great regional supper and folk dances.

Those who would rather go after polar bear, and bring home a living room rug from their vacation, can do it on Arctic safaris from Norway to Spitzbergen. A polar bear is guaranteed to each hunter.

Opportunity to Wed

Bachelors and spinsters interested in changing the status quo should have a great opportunity at an International Bachelors' and Spinsters' convention scheduled at Grevenbricht, The Netherlands. The object of this is to reduce the ranks of convention delegates by getting them married off to each other. However, there's just one catch to this event—the date for it hasn't been set yet.

Along the same line, there is a Kissing Festival in Britain at Hungerford, Berkshire, as a spring festival of some 600 years' standing. However, one doesn't have to go to Hungerford to take part in that type of festival.

Wine festivals—including free sampling—are featured in many areas of France, Spain, Germany and Italy during the summer. However, the European visitor might do well to put such an event near the end of his tour—lest he never get around to making the rest of it.

West Germany has a Pretzel Festival at Speyer July 5 to 9. There will be folk singing, dancing and colorful parades—all in celebration of the lordly pretzel.

Among other unusual events listed by the European Travel Commission are these:

David Vs. Goliath

At Ath, Belgium on Aug. 24-25 there will be a celebration dating back to 1215, featuring giant figures representing characters from the Bible. After a giant parade there will be a re-enactment of Goliath's battle with young David, and the show will then wind up with a "marriage" of Mr. and Mrs. Goliath.

From July 6 to 9 at Sønderborg, Denmark, there will be equestrian tilting tournaments in the style of the Knights of Old. Farmers from miles around will compete on beautifully groomed horses.

Italy will have a medieval horse race and flag-losing exhibition, whatever that is, at Sienna on July 2 and Aug. 16.

Greece had scheduled a modern version of the hotfoot at Langadas, Agia and Helleni—an ancient Byzantine ceremony during which townsfolk walk barefoot on burning embers. However, there is now some uncertainty as to whether the event will be held. Tender feet, possibly.

You can get dizzy in Turkey, and not necessarily from sampling the local potions, by watching Whirling Dervishes whirl, and queasy from watching greased wrestlers grapple, if that is the word for it under the circumstances.

Mass Wedding

At Galicnik, Yugoslavia, on July 12 and Aug. 28 there will be mass wedding festivities with impressive folk ceremonies.

Canoe-racing fans, if there are any such, should be delighted with another event in Yugoslavia at Jajce, Pliva Lake, on Aug. 23-25. It is the World Canoe Racing Championship, and is billed as the largest event of its kind ever held anywhere.

Midsummer fetes many places in Britain and Scandinavia will feature the lighting of huge bonfires, around which young people will dance.

Special midnight sun flights across the Arctic Circle can be arranged during the first half of July.

In the Netherlands there will be Cheese Festivals, with visitors invited to sample liberally of the local product, and at Pontedassio, Italy, tourists can look to their hearts' content—but not eat—the products on display in a unique Spaghetti Museum.

Visitors to Skanor, Sweden, won't need to worry about vehicles in the streets but they may have trouble with geese. Great flocks of geese go waddling through the streets all summer long.

And then there's Ireland's Puck Fair in Killorglin, County Kerry, Aug. 11-13.

There, along with thousands of farmers, gypsies and other merry-makers in an event reigned over by a wild puck goat from the mountains, the visitor can find three days of wild hilarity.

Might even find a wee drap o' the real thing, too.

Wisconsin Report

Election at Large for Legislators Intriguing

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — When the state supreme court responded to the legislative reapportionment petition of Gov. John W. Reynolds the other day, it suggested a fascinating possibility.

As it ordered Sec. of State Robert C. Zimmerman, who is for these purposes the state elections officer, to show cause why he should not do certain things, among the possibilities it envisioned was an election at large next year for all of the 100 seats in the state assembly and half of the seats in the state senate. This is by way of technical preface to the constitutional arguments on reapportionment which will precede the court's decision, and its judgment on the governor's position that it is empowered to act in the default of legislative action in redistricting senate and assembly boundaries.

But for anyone who is even reasonably close to the Wisconsin legislature, it is a tantalizing idea — this idea that a voter living in a particular precinct may be entitled next year to cast a vote for or against candidates running in all of the legislative districts of the whole state.

Without presuming to prejudge the merits of the constitutional issue of reapportionment, this is the kind of opportunity that the critic of the legislature dreams about.

Who is there among the many persons who must watch the legislature closely who has not felt a frustration in his inability to vote against the dozen or so men in any typical Wisconsin legislature who should not hold their seats under the most generous interpretation of the meaning of representative government?

Who is there who has not felt sorry that he cannot deliver a vote to the dozen or so men in each session who impress the objective sideline observer as nearly ideal representatives, in their sense of duty, their rigorous honesty and fairness, and their quick understanding of the weaknesses of some of their colleagues and the falsity of some of the issues which deceive their lesser brethren?

There are men in this legislature (in any legislature) who feel dangerously secure, who come from districts where, in times, they cannot be dislodged. They represent both parties. Would it not be a wholesome thing for some of them to run in one election when they would be responsible to the independent judgment of the whole state, rather than the one-party prejudices of the districts they happen to spring from?

There are men who pay not the slightest heed to the legislative problems of the cities; there are others who feel the most acute boredom when rural affairs are on the calendar. Running at large would be a refreshing thing for them, if only to teach them that Wisconsin is a complex, variegated compound of problems, situations, needs and aspirations.

THE DREAM

This is a dream, of course. The supreme court in its order to show cause was holding out the literal alternative of an at-large election because legally it is one of the possibilities.

But it would not be practicable, in ballot terms, if for no other reason. Voters already complain that they cannot intelligently consider the long ballot as it exists. How would they accommodate a ballot that had 116 additional names on it, including 114 representing assembly and senate districts outside their own?

Yet the entrancing idea lingers . . . a vote against Sen. X because he is one of the most useless, cynical, irresponsible men in the legislature, albeit he has what is commonly regarded as a "safe" district and he is unlikely to be dislodged for the nomination of his party . . . or a vote of encouragement for Assemblyman Z who comes from a marginal district, is not altogether sure he likes the grind of legislative life, but is one of the most productive and imaginative and responsible of the members, nevertheless.

Looking Backward

Free Speechers Inconsistent

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for June 27, 1863.

The beautiful inconsistency of the devotees of that party (Republican) whose great rallying cry in 1856 was "Free Speech exhibited by these same fanatical partisans during the Lawrence College exercises.

When the Rev. Mr. Fowler martyred old John Brown in his lecture, placing that cut throat in the same category as Washington and other Revolutionary heroes, when the lecturer descended to the lowest political harrow slang in his mouthings against Democrats, these fanatics applauded to echo every single sentiment of the speaker.

Mr. Fowler is a brilliant man in our estimation, yet he lost sight of the courtesy due his paying audience by introducing his contemptible partisanship.

Democrats paid to hear a literary treat and were regaled instead with indignity. But they did not hiss the speaker as he deserved.

When Mr. Cross concluded his graduating oration he was greeted with hisses by this same "Free Speech" crowd. This was a practical exemplification of the honesty of their professions.

The truth is the radicals of the Republican faith will tolerate free speech — if it accords with their notions. But if a Democrat expresses his sentiments he is a disloyal Copperhead.

Be it so. Such Copperheads are increasing rapidly. And the only hope for the country rests in the same old constitutional Democratic party.

We are glad that some Republicans repudiated Mr. Fowler's contemptible slang.

Information from Berlin that day indicated that the high command of the German Gestapo (secret police) had ordered a nation-wide check-up of Jews in the greatest anti-Jewish action yet undertaken by the Nazi regime. The move followed a wave of anti-Jewish disorders which thus far had been limited to Berlin. Germans spoke freely of the widespread looting of Jewish shops.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Conservation Department, at the suggestion of Director Randolph Hodges, changed the name of mullet to lisa, hoping to make the fish more attractive to consumers.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The tax valuation of whisky stored in Kentucky warehouses has been cut from $28 to $27 per barrel.

Revenue Commissioner James Marcum said the whisky market has weakened and the state wants to equalize whisky assessments with other tangible property.

There Are Worse Things Than Taxes

From The Wichita, Kans., Eagle

Two unintended testimonials to the American way of life came in unrelated news items from Haiti and East Germany.

In Port-au-Prince, President Duvalier made one of his infrequent public appearances, and his loyal citizens turned out to eat shaved ice and bask in his presence. They were ordered to tuck their shirts in and keep their hands away from their pockets. Two hundred soldiers and militiamen kept the crowd covered with guns during the whole of the president's appearance.

And in East Berlin, workers were notified they must work harder and produce more in honor of Walter Ulbricht, the Communist leader of that unhappy land. Herr Ulbricht will be 70 on June 30, and workers are instructed to catch up with their production quotas by that time, or else.

All of which demonstrates once again that there are worse things than paying income tax.

The Ailing House When to Use Wall Fan

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: If there is a fan in the wall above the electric range, should it be used during or after the cooking.

A: The fan should be used during the entire cooking process, to prevent escape of vapors and odors into the rest of the house. It usually should be left on for a short period after the cooking.

Q: We are getting a new rug for our living room and want to use the old one in a bedroom. There are dents in the rug in four places from heavy furniture. How can these be eliminated? They are in places that will be uncovered with furniture in the bedroom.

A: With a steam iron, steam the dents; or cover these areas with a damp cloth and press with a hot iron. Be sure to protect the floor underneath from moisture. Moist heat will cause the rug pile to spring up again. Then finish by brushing the pile with a stiff brush. I recommend using special furniture cups under heavy furniture to distribute the pressure over a broader area; widely available in a variety of colors and materials at furniture, upholstery and housewares stores.

Q: My home is brick veneer with rock wool batts in the walls. In the open attic, the builder threw about two inches of loose rock wool on top of the rock lath, without using a moisture barrier. At that time I did not realize the importance of a moisture barrier but felt I needed more added about four inches of loose rock wool on top of the two inches already laid.

I am of the opinion that house air moisture is going through the plastered ceiling up through the rock wool. Do you think the loss of moisture could be stopped by putting some sort of moisture barrier on top of the six inches of rock wool? To lift this rock wool up and put a moistureproof paper down first would be a bigger job than I would care to do.

A: A moisture barrier on top of the insulation will only trap moisture in the rock wool and eventually damage the ceiling underneath, sorry to say. I suggest painting the ceilings underneath with top quality aluminum paint to act as a moistureproof barrier. You can paint over the aluminum paint, if desired.

PSC Orders Telephone Firm in Hobart to Speed Up Its Service

MADISON (AP)—The Oneida Telephone Co. in the Town of Hobart in Brown County was ordered by the State Public Service Commission today to speed up its service.

It was told to submit a plan for improvement within 60 days. The commission said the firm, which serves 145 rural and 30 urban customers, is too slow in handling calls and noted:

"This slow operator service could be a critical factor should a fire or other emergency arise." The Town of Hobart had complained of insufficient and inadequate service.

Milwaukee Man Denies Leaving Accident Scene

WAUPACA — Ralph C. Liebenstein, 58, Milwaukee, pleaded innocent of leaving the scene of an accident and failure to stop at a stop sign Friday when he was arraigned before Municipal Justice George Whalen.

Bail was set at $201.50. The trial was scheduled for July 8. Liebenstein was arrested by County Policeman John Bonnell for the city police department when Liebenstein drove his car into the ditch on County E, east of Waupaca.

Police said Liebenstein drove his car from W. Fulton Street to N. Main Street about 6:30 p.m. Thursday and struck a car parked by Larry Bauer, 20, route 2, Waupaca, in front of 106 N. Main Street. Several young men followed Liebenstein into the country until his car went into the ditch on County E.

Parents' World

Life of a Foster Child Can Cause Growing Difficulties

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Eve Jones: When we adopted our 5 1/2-year-old boy, he was only 1 1/2-years-old, but he had been in an orphanage for almost a year and had been in several foster homes. He had his arm in a cast and a huge bruise on his head when we first saw him.

We love him very dearly and want to help him, but he seems to be almost uncontrollable. The teacher won't let him attend kindergarten. He hits his friends when they come over. He has killed a parakeet and a dog, and now he kicks and hurts the new dog. But the next moment he puts his arms around the dog and says he loves him.

I tell him over and over how much we love him and how much he is hurting us by being a bad boy. He says he's sorry and he'll try to be better. But it never works for long. What's wrong?

MRS. S.S. Most of his behavior probably is his reaction to having been mistreated and confused for the first 18 months of his life. So you're wise not to punish him.

But the way you're trying to get him to control himself by making him feel guilty, adds an extra burden. You'll help him much more easily if you refrain from pleading with him to be good and to remember his promises, etc.

Instead, tell him, "I don't want you hurting anyone or anything. Stop it. If you can't play near your friends or near the dog without hurting them, go play by yourself or ask me to play with you."

If you don't notice a change for the better within a month's time, go to the clinic whose name I'm sending you and ask for personal professional help. A child who has had the misfortune of being greatly hurt while still an infant is often in need of such care, and you should not feel that you've failed him because you cannot be a therapist, too.

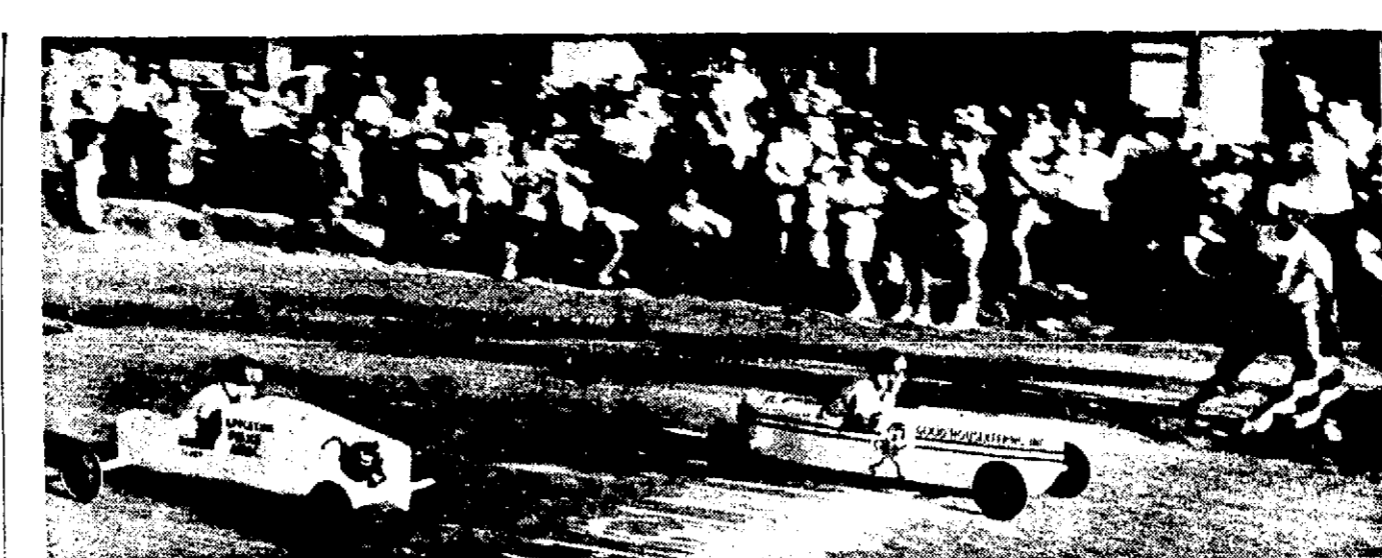

Dear Eve Jones: Although my 16-year-old doesn't drink, he has twice let his friends sit in our car and drink beer. I didn't allow him to drive the car anywhere for a month after the first time this happened.

I know it's only because he wants to be a big-hearted understanding soul and not tell his friends that they are wrong. How do you suggest I handle this so I can feel free to trust my son again?

Mrs. S. R. Before he gets into serious trouble, tell him he must stop associating with such foolish friends and start making friends with boys who respect decent standards of behavior.

Few 16-year-olds are mature enough to handle the powerful lethal object that a car is on to day's roads. So take back his car keys except when you want him to run an errand for you. In a few years, try trusting him with the car again.

You can write to Dr. Eve Jones at the Appleton Post-Crescent.

To Your Good Health

Even Teen-Agers Need To Watch Their Weight

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 16 and used to weigh 135 pounds. I am on a diet because for my height I should weigh 115, but my parents disapprove of it. It isn't as if I went on a crash diet. I eat balanced meals. But every time I eat only one potato instead of two, or a smaller portion of spaghetti, I get a lecture on how sick and pale I'll be.

Everyone else tells me how much better I look. Please explain to my parents that this diet is for my own good.—NORMA S.

I'm sure your parents mean well, and I'm sure you agree. They are mistaken, however. Piling on weight does not prevent anyone from becoming "sick and pale."

People who keep their weight average, or even manage to stay slightly on the lean side, live the longest and have the least illness. In one study of people with heart disease, it was shown that men who were 20 per cent above average weight had 43 per cent more heart trouble, and women who were only 15 per cent over average had 51 per cent more heart disease.

Four out of five people with diabetes are or have been overweight. And you can go right down the list of diseases.

I wonder if your parents have ever noticed that people who live to what we call "a ripe old age," the 70's and 80's and more, are usually slim. That's because, especially from middle-age on, the death rate increases rapidly for overweight folks, and the more overweight, the faster the death rate rises.

As an example, here's a case described in one book on the subject. A man of 47, a six-footer, weighed 199 pounds and complained of heart pains (angina pectoris). He was put on a diet for seven weeks, lost 17 pounds—and the heart pains stopped!

All of this is backed up by facts. Too much weight is the reason for some people not being able to get life insurance, or being required to pay a high rate for it. Why? Because the insurance companies know such people don't live as long.

Maybe your best bet is to persuade your parents to let your doctor decide things. Let him check the charts for ideal weight for you, and you agree not to go below that figure.

Your method of reducing, by the way, is exactly the one that works best—going easy on starches, such as potatoes and spaghetti, as well as avoiding sweets. But get good helpings of meat, vegetables, fruits, milk. Those are the foods that keep you from becoming "pale and sick." The starches only pile on extra fat, the same as excess visible fats and rich desserts.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 86 and for 15 years have worn a truss with indifferent benefit. I have been told I could now leave it off without ill effect. Would there be enlargement of the hernia? It is about the size of a small apple.—C.E.

I would be suspicious of leaving it off because at your age the tissues tend to relax more and I would be afraid—even with your indifferent benefit in the past—that the hernia might enlarge and be even more uncomfortable. You could try going without it briefly, I suppose, but if the hernia enlarges, resume use of the truss. Perhaps you need one of a different type for better results.

H.E.W.: I know of no harmful results from ordinary use of the artificial (low calorie) sweeteners, whether in soft drinks or otherwise. Yes, salt is necessary, but you get some of it naturally in your food even if you don't use any from the shaker.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Milner in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes—The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Milner regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Braves Accept Gift Runs, Top San Francisco, 6-3

Score 6 Times In 5th Inning; Aaron Sits Out

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves got twice as many runs as hits Friday night and defeated the San Francisco Giants 6-3 by seizing on every break they got.

Milwaukee hopes for success in the opener of the three-game series with the defending National League champions dimmed with the reading of the lineups and the announcement that Hank Aaron, most of the Braves' batting punch so far, was out of action with an ailing back.

And for four innings it appeared his absence would be fatal as the Braves were held hitless by Bob Bolin, with an assist from the scorekeepers. Frank Bolling had singled for the Braves in the first, but after the fourth the play changed to an error against Giant third baseman Cap Peterson.

Bolin's no-hit bid was dashed and he was chased when the Braves came to bat in the fifth and shoved over all of their runs. Tony Cloninger, with the four-inning relief help of Bob Hendley, took his second victory in six decisions.

Torre Homers
Frank Torre opened the Milwaukee fifth with his fourth homer, and the first hit off Bolin. Mack Jones walked and after Don Dillard lined out, Gene Oliver grounded to Peterson who threw past second in an attempt to force Jones.

Denis Menke was hit with a pitch, loading the bases before Norm Larker went to bat for Cloninger. A wild pitch allowed Jones to score. After Larker fouled out, Eddie Mathews was walked intentionally to fill the bases again.

Veteran vs. Youngster in Ring Match

NEW YORK (AP)—Boxing's old, familiar story of the ambitious kid on the way up and the veteran struggling for survival will be re-enacted tonight at Madison Square Garden. Jose Stabile of Cuba and New York is the fast-rising youngster. Charley Scott of Philadelphia is the experienced man with the big punch.

Scott's career record is a Jack Buster 33-21 but he still has the big equalizer—a potent right hand punch. He has knocked out 18 opponents and has been stopped twice, by Gil Turner and Luis Rodriguez. Once one of the top-ranked welterweights, Scott, 27, now is fighting to stay in the "name" class.

Stabile, 22, was just another name in the book a year ago. Although he had developed quickly the big win that put him into the higher echelon of the ranked fighters was his decision over Curtis Cokes at Sunnyside Gardens in New York, April 20.

Stabile has a 19-2-1 record for 22 pro fights, with six knockouts. He never has been stopped. Angel Garcia, one of the two to beat him, lost a rematch. The other to hold a decision over him was Dave Charnley in a Liverpool bout.

Stabile is ranked No. 3 among Emile Griffith's contenders by the World Boxing Association and expects to challenge the welter champ if he gets past Scott. The 10-round match will be carried on network (ABC) television at 9 p.m. EST. Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds, using a supplementary point system in case the rounds are even.

Foxes Manage Only 4 Singles; Bow to Clinton

Drop 12 1/2 Games Behind Leaders In 3-0 Defeat

CLINTON, Ia. — Bill Dawson tracked up his sixth victory against only one loss for the Clinton Foxes as he held the Fox Cities to just four singles in a 3-0 Midwest League victory here Friday night.

The loss dropped the Foxes two games below the .500 mark and a full 12 1/2 games behind the leading Clinton club.

Tonight the same two teams will go at it again in Clinton.

The Foxes failed to get a runner beyond second base in the first eight innings and only two men did reach second up to the ninth.

The four Foxes hits, all singles, came by Bob Lewandowski in the fourth, George Farnon in the fifth, Jim Vadas in the sixth and George Stone in the ninth.

Dawson fanned 11 batters but kept himself in trouble by issuing six walks. A pair of double plays helped the C-Sox out of trouble.

Clinton scored a pair of runs in the third and one in the fourth. In the third, Dawson beat out a punt and Rich Severson singled. Ed Barberie singled the first tally.

Palmer Zooms Into Tie for 'Open' Lead

Nicklaus Is Eliminated After a 77

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Don't look now, but here comes that man again and this time Jack Nicklaus isn't in his way. Arnold Palmer, golf's glamor boy, heads into today's 36-hole wind-up of the 63rd National Open championship in the suddenly carnival-like atmosphere of the very proper The Country Club, with a share of the lead, a well-tuned game, and not a worry in the world about Nicklaus, who trimmed him in a playoff for the title a year ago.

A spectacularly fashioned 2-under-par 69 did the job for the bronzed 33-year-old Latrobe, Pa., beller Friday, catapulting him into a three-way tie for the lead at 142 with his closest golfing buddy, Dow Finsterwald, and a tough, 25-year-old Texan, Jacky Cupit.

And while Palmer and his mighty army of fanatics trampled the hallowed rolls and knolls of the 6,870-yard, par 35-36-71 temple of tradition, Masters and the reigning Open champion Nicklaus dropped out of sight.

Gone Sour
His great game suddenly gone sour after some experimenting with his driving style, Nicklaus flopped to a 77 and failed to survive the cut to the low 50 scorers and ties for the last two rounds.

It took a score of 152-10 over par for 36 holes—10 qualify. Nicklaus, who had misfired to a 76 on Thursday's first round, wound up at 153, becoming the first champion to fail to get past the cut since Jack Fleck fizzled in 1956, a year after he had beaten Ben Hogan in a 1955 championship playoff.

"I thought I was doing right at the time," a disconsolate Nicklaus said of his last-minute change in driving technique. "But maybe it would have been better if I hadn't changed. At least, I would have known what rough I was hitting into."

The showdown, appears headed for a five-man tussle among Palmer, Finsterwald, Cupit, and two seasoned players who'll start the day just three strokes off the pace, champagne Tony Lema and cool, phlegmatic Julius (Moose) Boros.

Tied At 143
Dean Refram, a fledgling touring pro from Medina, Ill., and Walter Burkemo, 44-year-old former PGA champion from Franklinton, Mich., are in between at 143. But Refram is 26 and probably

Bob Hayes Breaks World 100-Yard Dash Mark Twice

More Records May Fall Today As National AAU Meet Winds Up

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Powerful Bob Hayes of Florida twice smashed the world record in the 100-yard dash, setting the stage for a world record try in the mile by little Jim Beatty and five other sub-4-minute milers today in the 75th National AAU track and field meet.

World records also could go in the 220-yard dash, where Hayes will duel Henry Carr of Arizona State, and in the 440-yard dash, where defending champion Uli Williams of Arizona State and Adolph Plummer of New Mexico are the co-favorites.

Three meet records were set in the seven events completed Friday night and at least six more will be in danger in the 12-event program today.

The field of about 380 athletes, including 200 collegians, is biding for places on the United States team which will face Russia in Moscow July 20-21. The first two American citizens in each event qualify for the team.

1961 Meet
Hayes set a world record in the semifinal heat in 9.1 seconds, compared to the world mark set by Frank Budd of Villanova in the 1961 AAU meet and equaled by Canada's Harry Jerome last year.

"I was shooting for a nine-flat in the finals," the husky Hayes said. He ran another 9.1 a scant 45 minutes later in the finals, but the wind at his back was 7.75 miles per hour, over the allowable limit of 4.475. The wind was only 2.2 in the record race.

Hayes credited the outstanding field and the new, bouncy rubberized asphalt track for the new mark.

Beatty, 5-foot-6 barrel-chested leader of the Los Angeles Track Club, currently is the world's No. 2 miler with a best of 3 minutes 55.5 seconds. He is the defending champ and co-record holder at 3:57.9.

But Dyrrol Burleson of the Oregon Emerald Empire AA ran a fired a creditable 1-over par 75:35.6 in the same race; Jim Greele, Beatty's teammate, 3:56.4 and Marine Lt. Cary Weisner, 3:57.9.

Cubs Nip Pirates, Cards Lose to LA

Jim Maloney Wins 11th Game for Reds; Mets Cop

It takes a touch of the unexpected to keep a longshot team close to the front in a pennant race—like a key hit from an ex-cricketer who played with a .215 batting average.

That's what the Chicago Cubs got Friday when Andre Rodgers clubbed a run-producing single in the 10th inning that gave them a 6-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Rodgers, a rangy shortstop from the Bahamas whose prowess at cricket led him to a major league baseball career, came up with the bases full and one out in the Cub 10th, and stroked his hit over the pulled-in Pirate infield.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Cubs, a second division club in the National League for the past 16 years and picked for another lower echelon finish this season. Despite the dire predictions, they're comfortably situated in the upper strata—currently in fifth place, just 2 1/2 games from the top and only a point out of fourth.

In other NL action—the Sandy Koufax-Ron Perranoski pitching combination plus Tommy Davis' homer paced the Los Angeles Dodgers over first-place St. Louis 5-3; Milwaukee bunched six runs with only two hits in the fifth inning and whipped San Francisco 6-3; right-hander Jim Maloney became an 11-game winner with a four-hitter as Cincinnati blanked Houston 3-0; and New York Mets snapped their latest losing string at five by trimming Philadelphia 3-1.

The Pirates made even against the Cubs when Smokey Burgess smacked a three-run pinch double off Bob Buhl in the seventh inning for a 5-5 tie. But three innings later the Cubs staged their winning rally against Joe Gibbon, the fifth of six Pittsburgh pitchers.

Ellis Burton, who had homered and doubled earlier, started it with a single and was sacrificed to second. Ken Aspromonte drew an intentional walk. Lou Brock drew an unintentional walk, and Rogers delivered his third single of the day off Tom Sisk.

Burgess' double was the seventh and final Pirate hit. Barney Schultz finished up the seventh and pitched the eighth, then winner Don Elston went two hitless innings.

Koufax was within one out of

White Sox Move Closer to Yanks On 2-0 Victory

Boston Cools Off Bombers, 7-4, As Tigers End Losing Streak

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Early Wynn, somewhat dejected, just a little elated, picked up the phone in the Cleveland dressing room after losing the 243rd game of his career in a bid to become a 300-game winner. It was his mother, Ol' Gus finished the call, then answered the inquiring faces: "What can your mother say to you when you lose? She didn't tell me to go out and get drunk."

But you could hardly blame the 43-year-old veteran right-hander, who started his major league career in 1939, from taking a little nip after the Chicago White Sox scored a 2-0 victory over Wynn and the Indians Friday night.

Elated over his strong showing in his 1963 pitching debut, Wynn said, "I thought maybe I was going to get it."

Ron Hansen, one-year-old this season Wynn started his career with the Washington Senators, kayoed the thoughts with two out in the ninth inning. He slugged a slider for a two-run homer that kept Wynn from becoming the 14th major leaguer to reach the 300-victory level.

Fourth Try

Juan Pizarro also played a spoiler as Wynn tried for the fourth time to get No. 300. The Indians only six hits, moving the Chicagoans to within one game of the American League leading New York Yankees, 7-4 losers at Boston.

Elsewhere, Detroit ended its losing streak at 10 games by downing Kansas City 6-4, the Los Angeles Angels edged Washington 1-0 for the Senators ninth straight loss and Minnesota and Baltimore split. The Twins won 5-2, the Orioles 10-2.

Maris Homers

Frank Malzone did most of the damage for the Red Sox against the Yankees, driving in three runs with a homer and double. Gary Geiger also homered and made a fine running catch in the eighth inning to cut off a New York rally after two runs were in. Bill Monbouquette, 10-4, won his eighth in a row. He was tagged for a homer by Roger Maris.

The Tigers took advantage of sloppy play by the A's, scored four runs in the fifth and got Chuck Dressen his first victory as Detroit manager. On one play, the A's Wayne Cousey stood around holding onto Rocky Colavito's bunt as Dick McAuliffe scored from second base. Singles by Al Kaline and Norm Cash drove in another two runs.

Combine for 4-Hitter

Dean Chance, 6-6, and Julio Navarro combined to blank the Senators on four hits while the Angels got to Don Rudolph, 3-9, for the game's only run in the sixth inning. Bob Perry's sacrifice fly drove the run home after singles by Felix Torres and Charley Dees.

The Twins won the opener at Harmon Killebrew, Bob Allison and Jim Hall hit homers and Bill Dailey hailed out Lee Slange with some sharp ninth inning relief work. The Orioles came back to take the nightcap with their own homer barrage. Bob Johnson, Al Smith and Russ Snyder connecting and making it easy for Robin Roberts, now 5-7.

in one run and Lee May's triple to center scored Menke, Matthews and Bolling.

Gaylord Perry came in to end the inning by getting Torre on a grounder.

One Other Hit

The only other Milwaukee hit was Handley's single in the sixth. The Giants had taken an early 2-0 lead on Orlando Cepeda's 13th homer in the second and his 14th and second in a row in the fourth.

San Francisco scored its final run in the ninth on Tom Halle's leadoff single. He reached second on a passed ball and scored on Felipe Alou's pinch single.

The Braves and Giants were set for a day game today, Bob Shaw 3-4, facing Billy O'Dell, 9-3.

HAS MODERN MAN GIVEN UP BELIEF IN MIRACLES?

YES ☐ NO ☐

METS 314183516 BATS 00000000

MGR

No. Belief in miracles is one of the main reasons why we cannot successfully solve our problems. Many people believe that a social revolution automatically makes people intelligent and good. Many of us believe that almost any old kind of education or religion will make people intelligently able to cope effectively with the complex issues of modern life. We believe that men can be preached or scolded into goodness. The list of miracles that our best people still take for granted is long, and indicates how far we are from living in a scientific age.

Which boy will have the least interest in dolls? The Masculine—The Feminine—

Actually it will more likely be the boy who is uncertain. A boy who feels secure in his masculinity feels free to show an interest in dolls. The more feminine type might do so regardless of what others felt or said. It is the boy who wants to be masculine, but does not feel sure of himself, who will be most contemptuous of anything associated with girls.

Would you like to be an actor? Yes—No—

Yes, or at least you are, whether you want to be or not. As a parent, you play one role. On your job you play another. As a friend, a citizen, a member of a club or organization, you play the same instances, you are confident, and in others, timid. Sometimes you are the leader, and sometimes you are shy. As Shakespeare said, "All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players . . . and each one in his time plays many parts." Success in life depends upon how well you play yours.

Appleton Alley Requirement Policy Revised

Commission's Stand May Encourage Apartment Building

The city plan commission Friday unanimously agreed to revise its policy toward alley requirements in connection with apartment construction.

Plan commissioners held a special meeting during the afternoon at city hall.

In recent months, the commission has received inquiries from developers on whether the 40-foot alleyway policy was really needed in all instances.

For several years, as a matter of policy, the commission required alleys behind all apartment buildings. However, commissioners felt there were instances in which the policy did not necessarily have to apply and had previously agreed to hold a special meeting to discuss the matter.

New Plan The commission's new relaxed policy is that alleys shall not be required in a single family, two-family, or multiple family residential districts unless deemed otherwise by a ruling of the planning body.

In the past, once the developer needed necessary footage for the alley, it was taken over and maintained by the city.

The commission's new stand is expected to encourage accelerated apartment building construction in the Appleton area.

One developer has plans for erecting new, modern apartments in Kenview Heights on the northwest side of Appleton. There are others who have indicated plans for apartment projects in other sections of the city.

Blaze Damages Oshkosh Stock, Restaurant

OSHKOSH — Fire early this morning damaged the stock and part of the building of Italiano's Restaurant, 430 N. Main St., and knocked out telephones for the entire downtown business block.

The fire was discovered at 4:36 a.m. by Mrs. Janice Eickert, who lives above the restaurant. She said she smelled smoke and called the fire department. Then her telephone went dead.

Most of the fire was confined to the basement but it weakened the floor structure in the center part of the restaurant. Smoke damage extended throughout the building. Much of the restaurant's food stock was kept in the basement and this was damaged, according to James Reiner, owner.

Firemen received the first call at 4:36 a.m. and a second call was received at 5:10 a.m. The fire was put out at 6:26 a.m. Firemen also evacuated apartments in nearby buildings.

No More Sliding For Tulsa Firemen

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa's new central fire station won't have a pole for firemen to slide down. The reason — too many firemen get hurt sliding. Fire Chief G. L. Sartain said. All living quarters will be on the first floor.

Sartain said the second story living quarters — and the pole to the ground floor — originated in the days when horses were stabled on the first floor.

Wisconsin Citizenry Important in Civil War

Many Headed Regiments, Carried on Battle, Historian Says; Casualty List Cited

THREE LAKES — Wisconsin's contribution to the Union cause in the Civil War was great, suggests an American historian, with the state's citizenry being the most important factor in that contribution.

T. Harry Williams, professor of History at Louisiana State University, and a native of Hazel Green, spoke at the annual meeting here Friday night of the Wisconsin Historical Society. The topic of Dr. Williams' address was "Badger Colonels and the Civil War Officer."

It is the soldier, Dr. Williams contended, that has been credited with carrying on the war. This should not mean, however, that professional soldiers carried the burden. The basic infantry group in each battle was the regiment, with a colonel at its head.

The "civilian colonels", as Dr. Williams termed them, often were elected by the basic soldiers. Sometimes they were chosen by state governors, arbitrarily. "Both modes of selection violated every known principle of military procedure. But, surprisingly, they worked."

Quick Method "A great deal of historical nonsense has been written about this supposedly inefficient, haphazard manner of choosing officers. Actually the election method was the only way to obtain quickly the large volume of troop leaders required. There simply was not time to resort to a more military system of selection. Without these men, the nation could not have officered its armies. An overwhelming majority of them were civilians."

"Wisconsin's colonels and regiments played a large role in the war. Badger regiments were not made up of better material than those of other states, but they had one real superiority. Wisconsin, practically alone among the Northern states, did not create new units to take the place of decimated old ones. It funneled recruits into the existing regiments and thus preserved a core of veterans in all its organizations."

Williams stated that the "guiding spirit" of this regiment system was the colonel. He had to educate the men under him. Because of his ability to mingle with the men on a familiar basis, he was better fitted in every way than the average West Pointer.

Faith Lutheran Church Plans Picnic Sunday

Members of Faith Lutheran Church will have their annual parish picnic at Erb Park Sunday.

Picnic activities begin with a potluck noon meal followed by games for all groups. There will be a softball game between the married men of the congregation and the members of the congregation's youth group, the Walther League.

Jack Gillespie is in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Martin Kiepe is handling games.

Morning services will be held at the church as usual at 8 and 10:30 a.m. The Vacation Bible School children's choir will sing at both services. Miss Edith Renter will direct.

3 Police Cars, Flying Tackle Capture Man

Woodie H. Flowers Held on Charges of Driving Auto Without Owner's Consent

It took three police cars — two of them damaged before the pursuit was over — and finally a flying tackle to stop an Appleton man in a stolen truck early Saturday.

Woodie H. Flowers, 21, 516 1/2 W. College Ave., is being held in Outagamie County jail, Appleton Police said they will charge him with operating an auto without the owner's consent. Little Chute Police Department plans charges of reckless driving, failure to stop for a red light and failure to stop for a red light and siren. The Kimberly Police Department told Appleton police it also intends to file charges against Flowers.

Appleton patrolmen Wayne Huebner and William Stewart said they saw a truck parked in Teutlah Park at 1:25 a.m. today and were going to investigate when the vehicle pulled away. They said the truck was not speeding.

The patrolmen said they followed it, and when the vehicle reached Outagamie County Trunk Z they radioed ahead to Kimberly police to stop the driver.

Kimberly patrolman Don Schmidt said he blocked County Trunk Z at its intersection with Marcella Street, but the truck, being operated by Flowers, pulled around the squad car. Schmidt said he began chasing the truck, and while in pursuit, Schmidt's auto sideswiped a parked auto and struck a barricade, damaging the police car's bumper.

In the meantime, Little Chute police had blocked the Community Bridge with their patrol car. Patrolmen Robert Bruyette and Thomas Jansen said Flowers veered his truck around the police car and kept going.

Bruyette and Jansen said they followed Flowers north on Madison Street in the village to County Trunk 00, where the truck turned east. They said they continued pursuing Flowers, pulled alongside the truck and attempted to force it off the road.

They said Flowers wouldn't pull over, so they forced him off the road by sideswiping the truck. When Flowers stopped the truck, he began running, the patrolmen said. One of the village police men tackled him.

The Little Chute police car, only three days old, was scratched on the right side, and its fender was dented in the sideswipe.

The driver of the other auto, Clarence Nash, 62, 521 Loudan Blvd., Neenah, and his wife, a passenger, Grace E. Nash, 62, were treated and released from the hospital.

According to police reports, Mr. and Mrs. Nash received minor lacerations and bruises.

Rededication Services Planned at Trinity Lutheran Church Sunday

Congregation to Participate in Special Rites At 3 p.m. Culminating Building Program

The Trinity Lutheran Church congregation will rededicate its expanded and remodeled church facilities at a special worship service at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The Rev. Dr. Theodore E. Matson, president of the Wisconsin Upper Michigan Synod of the Lutheran Church in America, Milwaukee, will preach at the rededication service.

The preacher at the three morning worship services will be the Rev. Dr. Clemens H. Zeidler, pastor of Trinity from 1939 to 1954 and now president of Northwestern Lutheran Theological Seminary, Minneapolis.

The rededication service will culminate Trinity's $425,000 building program, which started with groundbreaking ceremonies on Easter Sunday, 1952. The cornerstone of the remodeled sanctuary was laid on Palm Sunday, 1963.

More Seating The building program included extension of the sanctuary north to join the parish hall, increasing the seating capacity from 385 to 700. The fellowship hall was razed and a large entry to the church was constructed on its site. An addition to the chapel on the east side of the church was built, and some remodeling was done in the parish hall.

Officiating ministers at the rededication service will include the Rev. Ingolf B. Kindem, Trinity pastor, and the Rev. Karlton Wagner, assistant pastor, as liturgists. The Rev. Ralph C. Sandgren, pastor of Our Saviour Lutheran Church, Appleton, as Scripture reader, and Dr. Matson.

The procession of the clergy at the opening of the service will include the officiating ministers and the visiting clergy. Honored at the head of the visiting clergy will be the Rev. Dr. B. J. Steckler, Trinity's first spiritual leader while he was a student at Lawrence College and in the interim between the organization of the congregation in 1915 and the installation of its first pastor, Mrs. Steckler also will attend. The Rev. Dr. Steckler is now serving as pastor of Our Saviour Lutheran Church, Fond du Lac.
